

Higher Education in the Maldives: An Evolving Seascape [

International Bank for Reconstruction and Development / The World Bank, 2011

Book

<info:eu-repo/semantics/book>

NonPeerReviewed

Monografía

The Republic of Maldives, a middle-income country of extraordinary natural beauty, is one of the most advanced nations in South Asia. The Maldives consists of an archipelago of nearly 1,200 islands and a population of approximately 400,000 inhabitants; 310,000 Maldivians and 90,000 expatriate workers. More than 25 percent of the population live in Male', the capital, while the rest are distributed among just under 200 other inhabited islands. The Maldives had attained a national income per capita of USD 2,786 in 2009. The Government of Maldives (GOM) is seeking to accelerate human development and economic prosperity within the political framework of a modern liberal democracy. The government's reform program to achieve this goal, outlined in the policy statement 'the other Maldives' [GOM 2009a)] contains five pillars: good governance to strengthen democratic institutions and processes; expansion and development of human capital; climate change and adaptation; public sector reform to streamline the delivery of services and improve efficiency; and macroeconomic reform to promote private-sector led growth

<https://rebiunoda.pro.baratznet.cloud:28443/OpacDiscovery/public/catalog/detail/b2FpOmNlbGVicmF0aW9uOmVzLmJhcmF0ei5yZW4vMjI5NDgyODk>

Título: Higher Education in the Maldives: An Evolving Seascape electronic resource]

Editorial: International Bank for Reconstruction and Development / The World Bank 2011

Tipo Audiovisual: 370 Education Maldives [L14] Education and Research [T22]

Nota general: application/pdf

Restricciones de acceso: Open access content. Open access content star

Condiciones de uso y reproducción: <info:eu-repo/semantics/openAccess> <http://creativecommons.org/licenses/by-sa/3.0/de/>

Lengua: English

Otras relaciones: <http://crossasia-repository.ub.uni-heidelberg.de/3464/>

Baratz Innovación Documental

- Gran Vía, 59 28013 Madrid
- (+34) 91 456 03 60
- informa@baratz.es