Monografía

Aalto also enjoyed spending time in the Muuratsalo Experimental House (1952-54) built on the island of Päijänne as a counterbalance to his work. Muuratsalo Experimental House &#x2013; Alvar Aalto's arena for artistic play and experiment Alvar Aalto and his architect wife Elissa jointly designed a small-scale, intimate summer residence &#x2013; an experimental house &#x2013; on the beautiful island of Muuratsalo in Central Finland. The place and its natural beauty gave Aalto a chance to make architectural experiments, as well as painting in oils, far away from the bustle of everyday life. The architect Juhani Pallasmaa's article "The Experimental House, sauna and boat: The Art of play" presents the design and execution of the building and grounds
