

Gramsci and the Notion of Historical Catharsis. Validity for Latin America [

Universidad Complutense de Madrid,
2017-12-13

info:eu-repo/semantics/article

info:eu-repo/semantics/publishedVersion

Analítica

The article exposes an appreciation of the importance of the notion of catharsis of Antonio Gramsci for the political struggle of the subalterns. It is a reflection on the characteristics and conditions that generate an ethical political elevation of the local economic and corporate struggle of the popular sectors as well as the union of political currents of the left around a common project built in the social struggle, project of a universal nature linked to the proposal of a hegemonic alternative, of the constitution of an integral autonomy of these in the perspective of a national and international dispute over ideological political leadership and hegemony. This notion is particularly necessary in Latin America and in Mexico due to the conditions of organic and current political crises and the need for a popular unity before the enthronement of neoliberalism as a form of transnationalized domination that seeks to maintain the subordination of countries to the great powers and large capitals even at the expense of the decomposition of the State and the resort to violence

The article exposes an appreciation of the importance of the notion of catharsis of Antonio Gramsci for the political struggle of the subalterns. It is a reflection on the characteristics and conditions that generate an ethical political elevation of the local economic and corporate struggle of the popular sectors as well as the union of political currents of the left around a common project built in the social struggle, project of a universal nature linked to the proposal of a hegemonic alternative, of the constitution of an integral autonomy of these in the perspective of a national and international dispute over ideological political leadership and hegemony. This notion is particularly necessary in Latin America and in Mexico due to the conditions of organic and current political crises and the need for a popular unity before the enthronement of neoliberalism as a form of transnationalized domination that seeks to maintain the subordination of countries to the great powers and large capitals even at the expense of the decomposition of the State and the resort to violence

<https://rebiunoda.pro.baratznet.cloud:28443/OpacDiscovery/public/catalog/detail/b2FpOmNlbGVicmF0aW9uOmVzLmJhcmF0ei5yZW4vMjg5MzY0NjY>

Título: Gramsci and the Notion of Historical Catharsis. Validity for Latin America electronic resource]

Editorial: Universidad Complutense de Madrid 2017-12-13

Tipo Audiovisual: political philosophy; political theory Catharsis; Hegemonic Alternative; State Failure; Latin America 5908 filosofía política, teoría política catarsis; hegemonía alternativa; Estado fallido; América Latina 5908

Variantes del título: Gramsci y la noción de catarsis histórica. Su actualidad para América Latina

Documento fuente: Las Torres de Lucca, Revista Internacional de Filosofía Política; Vol 6, No 11 (2017): July-December; 25-42

Nota general: application/pdf text/html

Restricciones de acceso: Open access content. Open access content star

Condiciones de uso y reproducción: Copyright (c) 2017 Lucio Oliver <http://creativecommons.org/licenses/by/4.0>

Lengua: Spanish

Enlace a fuente de información: Las Torres de Lucca, Revista Internacional de Filosofía Política; Vol 6, No 11 (2017): July-December; 25-42 Las Torres de Lucca. International Journal of Political Philosophy; Vol 6, No 11 (2017): July-December; 25-42 2255-3827

Otras relaciones: <http://www.latorresdelucca.org/index.php/ojs/article/view/207/167> <http://www.latorresdelucca.org/index.php/ojs/article/view/207/177>

Baratz Innovación Documental

- Gran Vía, 59 28013 Madrid
- (+34) 91 456 03 60
- informa@baratz.es