

Corpora in ESP/EAP writing instruction : preparation, exploitation, analysis /

Charles, Maggie,
editor

Frankenberg-Garcia, Ana,
editor

Electronic books

Monografía

<https://rebiunoda.pro.baratznet.cloud:28443/OpacDiscovery/public/catalog/detail/b2FpOmNlbgVlcmF0aW9uOmVzLmJhcmF0ei5yZW4vMzAwMTk4NTc>

Título: Corpora in ESP/EAP writing instruction preparation, exploitation, analysis edited by Maggie Charles, Ana Frankenberg-Garcia

Editorial: New York, New York London Routledge [2021] 2021

Descripción física: 1 online resource (195 pages)

Mención de serie: Routledge Advances in Corpus Linguistics Ser

Contenido: Intro -- Half Title -- Series Page -- Title Page -- Copyright Page -- Contents -- Figures -- Tables -- Editors' Acknowledgements -- Contributors -- Introduction: Dichotomies and debates in corpora and ESP/EAP writing -- 1. Introduction -- 2. Preparation, exploitation, and analysis -- 3. Target language versus interlanguage corpora -- 4. Specialized versus general corpora -- 5. Ready-made versus DIY corpora -- 6. Concordances versus other pedagogical corpus affordances -- 7. Guided versus autonomous corpus use -- 8. Pathways into DDL -- 9. Conclusion -- Note -- References -- Part I: Preparation -- 1. Exploiting corpora to provide guidance for academic writing: The BAWE Quicklinks project -- 1. Introduction -- 2. The concept of Quicklinks -- 3. Taking links beyond concordances -- 3.1. Case study 1: using node form summaries -- 3.2. Case study 2: exploring word sketches -- 3.3. Case study 3: using collocate lists -- 4. Presenting Quicklinks to students -- 5. Conclusion -- Acknowledgments -- Notes -- References -- 2. Discipline-specific academic phraseology: Corpus evidence and potential applications -- 1. Introduction -- 2. Previous research -- 3. Corpus and methods -- 3.1. The AJACX2 -- 3.2. Corpus pattern analysis -- 3.3. The verb sample -- 3.4. Comparing pattern types -- 4. Results of statistical comparison of pattern frequencies -- 4.1. Interdiscipline comparison -- 4.2. Intradiscipline comparison -- 5. Selected case studies -- 5.1. Accept -- 5.2. Manage -- 5.3. Treat -- 6. Conclusions and future applications -- Acknowledgments -- Notes -- References -- Part II: Exploitation -- 3. Exploring the relationships between English writing motivation and uptake of corpus-aided corrective feedback: A longitudinal study -- 1. Introduction -- 1.1. Motivation and written corrective feedback -- 1.2. DDL for L2 writing motivation and feedback uptake 2. Method -- 3. Results -- 3.1. Feedback and writing motivation -- 3.2. Writing motivation and frequency of corpus use -- 3.3. Error correction rates -- 3.4. Sources of attempted corrections -- 3.5. Success rate of attempted corrections using corpora -- 3.6. Corpus tools evaluation -- 3.7. Student interviews -- 4. Discussion -- 4.1. Changes in writing motivation and feedback orientation -- 4.2. Students' perceptions about corpus-aided WCF -- 5. Conclusion -- Acknowledgments -- References -- Appendix A: . Writing Motivation Questionnaire -- Appendix B: . Dimensions of engagement with WCF and the sub-constructs on each dimension -- Appendix C: . Examples of attempted corrections where students used corpora to help -- 4. Exploiting a genre-specific corpus in ESP writing: Students' preferences and strategies -- 1. Introduction -- 2. DDL for ESP -- 3. Scaffolding DDL -- 4. Methodology -- 4.1. Participants -- 4.2. Materials -- 4.2.1. Corpora -- 4.2.2. DDL activities to notice frequent lexical items and phraseology -- 4.2.3. DDL activities to complement dictionary use -- 4.2.4. DDL activities to raise error awareness -- 4.3. Procedure -- 4.3.1. Instructions for students and classroom activities -- 4.3.2. Comparing the effects of paper-based and hands-on tasks -- 4.3.3. Analysing student preferences and strategies -- 5. Results and analysis -- 5.1. Student use of expert phraseology -- 5.2. Questionnaire responses -- 6. Discussion -- 7. Conclusions -- Notes -- References -- Appendix B. Paper-based DDL task -- 5. Undergraduate students' responses to a corpus-based ESP course with DIY corpora -- 1. Introduction -- 2. Literature review -- 2.1. DDL and corpus-based ESP course design -- 2.2. Learner training in CALL -- 2.3. Tentative guiding principles for corpus-based ESP course design -- 3. Methodology -- 3.1. Institutional context -- 3.2. Participants 3.3. Course design and procedure -- 3.4. Data collection and analysis -- 4. Results and discussion -- 4.1. Written reports -- 4.1.1. Advantages of using a language corpus -- 4.1.2. Affordances of corpus tools and resources -- 4.1.3. Enhanced language awareness -- 4.1.4. Understanding the limitations of DIY corpora -- 4.1.5. Future plans to use language corpora -- 4.2. Questionnaires -- 5. Conclusions -- Acknowledgements -- References -- Appendix A. Course outline -- Appendix B. Keywords in student conclusion and reflection sections of reports -- Part III: Analysis -- 6. The use of stance in L2 first-year college writing: Its relation to genre, revision, and writer characteristics -- 1. Introduction -- 2. Literature review -- 2.1. Stance framework -- 2.2. Stance in early academic writing -- 2.2.1. Genre and linguistic background -- 2.2.2. Revision -- 2.2.3. Writing proficiency and essay ratings -- 3. Method -- 3.1. Corpus -- 3.2. Lexico-grammatical and statistical analysis -- 4. Results -- 4.1. Individual difference across genres, drafts, and writer characteristics -- 4.2. Stance use between genres and revision stages -- 4.3. Stance use by writer L1 background and L2 proficiency -- 4.3.1. Writer language background -- 4.3.2. Language proficiency -- 5. Discussion and conclusion -- 5.1. Stance across genres -- 5.2. Stance over revision stages -- 5.3. Stance by writer L1 background and L2 proficiency -- 5.4. Pedagogical implications: why and how -- 6. Limitations and future directions -- Acknowledgements -- References -- 7. Identifying collocation issues in English L2 research article writing -- 1. Introduction -- 2. Corpus research on academic English collocations -- 2.1. Corpora used to research collocation issues -- 2.2. Analysing collocations -- 2.3. General findings from previous research -- 3. Methodology -- 3.1. BrACE -- 3.2. Reference data 3.3. Procedure -- 3.3.1. Node selection -- 3.3.2. Collocation research -- 3.3.3. Comparing collocations in BrACE with the reference data -- 4. Results -- 5. Discussion and conclusion -- Acknowledgements -- Notes -- References -- Afterword -- References -- Index

ISBN: 1-003-00196-3 1-000-36878-5

Materia: English language- Study and teaching (Higher)- Foreign speakers Academic writing- Study and teaching Report writing- Study and teaching (Higher)

Autores: Charles, Maggie, editor Frankenberg-Garcia, Ana, editor

Enlace a formato físico adicional: 0-367-43234-X

Punto acceso adicional serie-Título: Routledge Advances in Corpus Linguistics Ser

Baratz Innovación Documental

- Gran Vía, 59 28013 Madrid
- (+34) 91 456 03 60
- informa@baratz.es