Analítica

Storytelling is a useful tool to promote active learning among university students. This is especially relevant in the field of Labor Relations and Human Resources (LRHR), since the story may introduce specific situations related to human behavior within the workplace.

The objective of this research is to analyze the results obtained after applying storytelling tool with 111 students enrolled in a subject of the Degree in LRHR of the University of Zaragoza. The results indicate that those activities that involve an active and integral learning, such as the construction of a story, have a significant impact on the academic outcomes, besides contributing to a greater perception of the students' usefulness and satisfaction. In this sense, it is proposed that storytelling may have similar results in other subjects of LRHR, including those who belong to different areas of knowledge
