Analítica

The realization of criminal profiles is done in two ways, the inductive presenting a more statistical mode based on formal and informal, by analyzing the imprisoned criminal population studies. The second is the deductive, which is dedicated to the interpretation of forensic evidence by the scene of the crime, reports, autopsy, etc. To carry out a criminological profile, it will be necessary to use some tools such as: forensic evidence, characteristics of the scene of the crime, victimology, and geographical distribution
