

Algunas reflexiones sobre la covid-19 y turismo en Cuba.: Un futuro incierto de recuperación. [

2020

text (article)

Analítica

Cuba is an attractive and complex tourist destination to analyze due to its many, varied, interesting resources as well as its privileged geographical location among the Caribbean islands and Central America. Besides, it acquired significant geopolitical importance in the last sixty years with regards to Latin America and considering the divergent relations with its nearby, powerful neighbor, the United States of America. In 2018 tourism as a source of revenue held the second place in the Cuban economy, with an average annual growth of 11% between 1990-2007 and 6% until 2016, when it adjusted to the international reality. From 23 March 2020 Cuban tourism came to a halt with the closure of ports and airports, a measure dictated by the growing numbers of people infected with the novel Coronavirus, SARS COV2 resulting from contact between Cubans, tourists and migrants presenting the virus, often asymptotically. From the onset of Covid-19 in Cuba the treatment available to patients, irrespective of their being nationals or tourists, was given completely free of charge, including testing, medicines and hospital care. At this point in time, it is difficult to forecast how long the recovery process will take amidst a strong recession of economies worldwide, together with the additional difficulties Cuba must face while subjected to the United States of America imposed on economic, financial and commercial blockade since 1961. Promoting safety and an integrated, inclusive health system could be a positive action to recover international tourism as preoccupation with their wellbeing will be a deciding factor for tourists choosing a destination to visit post pandemia. This pandemia has demonstrated, more clearly than ideology or discourse, the inexorable need and the vital importance of public goods: health, research, education, not forgetting the solidarity among people

Cuba is an attractive and complex tourist destination to analyze due to its many, varied, interesting resources as well as its privileged geographical location among the Caribbean islands and Central America. Besides, it acquired significant geopolitical importance in the last sixty years with regards to Latin America and considering the divergent relations with its nearby, powerful neighbor, the United States of America. In 2018 tourism as a source of revenue held the second place in the Cuban economy, with an average annual growth of 11% between 1990-2007 and 6% until 2016, when it adjusted to the international reality. From 23 March 2020 Cuban tourism came to a halt with the closure of ports and airports, a measure dictated by the growing numbers of people infected with the novel Coronavirus, SARS COV2 resulting from contact between Cubans, tourists and migrants presenting the virus, often asymptotically. From the onset of Covid-19 in Cuba the treatment available to patients, irrespective of their being nationals or tourists, was given completely free of charge, including testing, medicines and hospital care. At this point in time, it is difficult to forecast how long the recovery process will take amidst a strong recession of economies worldwide, together with the additional difficulties Cuba must face while subjected to the United States of America imposed on economic, financial and commercial blockade since 1961. Promoting safety and an integrated, inclusive health system could be a positive action to recover international tourism as preoccupation with their wellbeing will be a deciding factor for tourists choosing a destination to visit post pandemia. This pandemia has demonstrated, more clearly than ideology or discourse, the inexorable need and the vital importance of public goods: health, research, education, not forgetting the solidarity among people

Cuba is an attractive and complex tourist destination to analyze due to its many, varied, interesting resources as well as its privileged geographical location among the Caribbean islands and Central America. Besides, it acquired significant geopolitical importance in the last sixty years with regards to Latin America and considering the divergent relations with its nearby, powerful neighbor, the United States of America. In 2018 tourism as a source of revenue held the second place in the Cuban economy, with an average annual growth of 11% between 1990-2007 and 6% until 2016, when it adjusted to the international reality. From 23 March 2020 Cuban tourism came to a halt with the closure of ports and airports, a measure dictated by the growing numbers of people infected with the novel Coronavirus, SARS COV2 resulting from contact between Cubans, tourists and migrants presenting the virus, often asymptotically. From the onset of Covid-19 in Cuba the treatment available to patients, irrespective of their being nationals or tourists, was given completely free of charge, including testing, medicines and hospital care. At this point in time, it is difficult to forecast how long the recovery process will take amidst a strong recession of economies worldwide, together with the additional difficulties Cuba must face while subjected to the United States of America imposed on economic, financial and commercial blockade since 1961. Promoting safety and an integrated, inclusive health system could be a positive action to recover international tourism as preoccupation with their wellbeing will be a deciding factor for tourists choosing a destination to visit post pandemia. This pandemia has demonstrated, more clearly than ideology or discourse, the inexorable need and the vital importance of public goods: health, research, education, not forgetting the solidarity among people

<https://rebiunoda.pro.baratznet.cloud:38443/OpacDiscovery/public/catalog/detail/b2FpOmNlbGVicmF0aW9uOmVzLmJhcmF0ei5yZW4vMzExODczODQ>

Título: Algunas reflexiones sobre la covid-19 y turismo en Cuba.: Un futuro incierto de recuperación. [electronic resource]

Editorial: 2020

Documento fuente: Cenário: Revista Interdisciplinar em Turismo e Território, ISSN 2318-8561, Vol. 8, Nº. 14, 2020, pags. 17-25

Nota general: application/pdf

Restricciones de acceso: Open access content. Open access content star

Condiciones de uso y reproducción: LICENCIA DE USO: Los documentos a texto completo incluidos en Dialnet son de acceso libre y propiedad de sus autores y/o editores. Por tanto, cualquier acto de reproducción, distribución, comunicación pública y/o transformación total o parcial requiere el consentimiento expreso y escrito de aquéllos. Cualquier enlace al texto completo de estos documentos deberá hacerse a través de la URL oficial de éstos en Dialnet. Más información: <https://dialnet.unirioja.es/info/derechosOAI> | INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY RIGHTS STATEMENT: Full text documents hosted by Dialnet are protected by copyright and/or related rights. This digital object is accessible without charge, but its use is subject to the licensing conditions set by its authors or editors. Unless expressly stated otherwise in the licensing conditions, you are free to linking, browsing, printing and making a copy for your own personal purposes. All other acts of reproduction and communication to the public are subject to the licensing conditions expressed by editors and authors and require consent from them. Any link to this document should be made using its official URL in Dialnet. More info: <https://dialnet.unirioja.es/info/derechosOAI>

Lengua: Spanish

Enlace a fuente de información: Cenário: Revista Interdisciplinar em Turismo e Território, ISSN 2318-8561, Vol. 8, Nº. 14, 2020, pags. 17-25

Baratz Innovación Documental

- Gran Vía, 59 28013 Madrid
- (+34) 91 456 03 60
- informa@baratz.es