Analítica

The present investigation alludes the most important happenings and personages in Ecuadorian History, referring to Touristic Sector growing in the different modalities; despite in some passages of our History we didnt have knowledge about that activity, but indirectly it was given to establish a National Touristic System. The present investigation takes a path by the different history categories: Hunter society, collector/nomads, incipient agricultural societies/sedentary, superior agricultural societies, supra community agricultural societies and government societies; without forgetting the Incas, Colony, Republic and Independence. The presented results are used to determine if idleness took part of the daily activities of the different pre Columbian in the different phases. Which was the worth that the town gave to these activities? At the same time, we must remark that the analysis is given in base to which activities of idleness they did, because they did not practice Tourism, as it means; it was wedged at the middle of the XVIII century in Europe; thats why it would be illogical to look for in the history records about this activity or the term itself; but it is possible to analyze which were the activities of idleness that have grown, and which have been present in the different spaces and personages of our history
