100 songs with chords for guitar or piano, which lead us to fond memories of popular music. Scores presented in an easy and simple way, invite us to put them into practice among amateur and professional students. Federico Abad, lover of music and its folklore, of education and of his students. He offers us this didactic work full of musical emotions, with a varied repertoire that allows us to travel between notes and letters that have accompanied us at some point in our journey. This book, written from the heart, represents more than a compilation, it is a look that tries to bring past repertoires to the present with a wide journey that mixes times, style and forms. Songs like You are tall and thin, Gaudeamus Igitur, Guadalajara on a plain, Jingle Bells, El Conde Olinos or El Vito, among many others, are an example of the diversity of this work. Federico, to give you experience and musical sensitivity, committed to history, music and culture, invites us to enjoy these pages, to interpret their phrases and share them. A book without ages, but one that represents unforgettable decades, through the music printed on its pages
