Analítica

At the end of the next 9th of March 2019, one year after the entry into force of LCSP/2017, the explicit references regarding urban planning will be reviewed by the author, analysing the impact of public procurement regulations on it. The review will start with the study of the implementation in 1994 of the Urban Development Agent as a disruptive system, followed by the legal analysis of the urban planning agreement subscribed between the Administration and the figure of the Urban Development Agent. Additionally, it will also address how the case-law of the Spanish Supreme Court and the Court of Justice of the European Union have been gradually gathering the application of Public Procurement Regulation to the selection of the Urban Development Agent and the execution of new urban development processes, to conclude with a brief selection of case-law and final assumptions
