

Retrospective Poe : The Master, His Readership, His Legacy

Ibáñez, José R. Ibáñez

Monografía

<https://rebiunoda.pro.baratznet.cloud:38443/OpacDiscovery/public/catalog/detail/b2FpOmNlbGVicmF0aW9uOmVzLmJhcmF0ei5yZW4vMzI4MzU3NTM>

Título: Retrospective Poe The Master, His Readership, His Legacy

Editorial: Cham Springer International Publishing AG 2023 2023

Descripción física: 1 online resource (345 pages)

Mención de serie: American Literature Readings in the 21st Century Ser

Contenido: Intro -- Acknowledgments -- Contents -- Notes on Contributors -- List of Figures -- Introduction: Re-assessing Poe's Seductive Art -- References -- Part I: Poe's Echoes of the Classical World and his Current Legacy -- Chapter 1: "The Glory that wasGreece andtheGrandeur that wasRome": Edgar Allan Poe andtheClassical World -- A Classical Education -- Poetry -- "Tamerlane" (1827) -- "Romance" (1827) -- "Sonnet-To Science" (1829) -- "To--" (1829) -- "To Helen" (1831) -- "Israfel" (1831) -- "Irenè" or "The Sleeper" (1831) -- "The Valley ofNis" or "The Valley ofUnrest" (1831) -- "A Pan" (1831) -- "Enigma" (1833) -- "Serenade" (1833) -- "The Coliseum" (1833) -- "Sonnet toZante" (1836) -- "Dream-Land" (1844) -- "The Raven" (1845) -- "Eulalie" (1845) -- "Ulalume" (1847) -- "To Helen (Whitman)" (1848) -- Prose Works -- "The Assignment" (1834) -- "Berenice" (1835) -- "Shadow-A Parable" (1835) -- "Ligeia" (1838) -- "Siope" (1838) -- The Narrative ofArthur Gordon Pym (1838) -- "The Conversation ofEiros andCharmion" (1839) -- "Eleonora" (1841) -- "The Colloquy ofMonos andUna" (1841) -- "Eureka" (1848) -- "Mellonta Tauta" (1849) -- "The Fall oftheHouse ofUsher" (1839) -- Conclusion -- References -- Chapter 2: Poe's Arrival inEurope andtheCase ofGreece -- Translations ofPoe's Storytelling inEurope -- The Greek Ambassador ofPoe -- Conclusion -- References -- Chapter 3: "Darkness There andNothing More": Edgar Allan Poe andthePopular Culture ofNecrolatry andThanatography -- The Anxiety ofLoss: Necrolatry inNineteenth-Century American Society -- The Birth ofPhotography andPostmortem Thanatography -- Poe's Traumatic Experience ofDeath during Childhood andAdulthood -- Poe's Relationship withhis Reading Public andPopular Taste -- Poe's Sublimation oftheFetishistic Synecdoche: "Berenice" and"Ligeia" "The House ofUsher" or theFetishistic Objectification ofthe"Face oftheTenant" -- Conclusion -- References -- Part II: Poe and Modernism -- Chapter 4: Poe Among theModernists: A(Ghostly) Reappraisal -- Poe, Master oftheFrench -- The Modernist Critique: Pound andEliot -- T.S.Eliot andPoe: ThePoet asCraftsman -- "Art forArt's Sake": ThePoem per se andtheTranscendental Hermeneutic ofPoetic Unity -- Romantic Epistemology andtheIdeal Artist ofUnified Sensibility -- Breaking theUnity oftheWorld: Crime -- References -- Chapter 5: Poe: Poeta Ludens -- Introduction: Maturity andCraftsmanship -- Brahmins/Quacks -- Stabilizing theSafety Net vs. Manipulating Hierarchies --

Conclusion: The Irreverent Revolutions of Poe's Magnetic Oeuvre -- References -- Chapter 6: "Poe's Poetics and Eliot's Poetry: A Denial of Influence?" -- Introduction -- Poe's Troublesome Legacy -- Conclusion -- References -- Chapter 7: Echoes of Poe in the Jazz Age: The Haunting of F. Scott Fitzgerald -- Introduction -- "William Wilson" and the Spatial Configuration of Identity -- Adolescent Identities in "A Short Trip Home" -- Social Theater and Costume -- Thresholds -- Conclusion -- References -- Part III: Poe's Readership in Spain -- Chapter 8: Beyond Baudelaire's Views of Poe: Carlos Fernández Cuenca and Josep Farrán i Mayoral, Literary Criticism, and Aesthetic Reception in 1930s and 1940s Spain -- Introduction -- Carlos Fernández Cuenca: An Early Example of Understanding Poe in Spain -- Poe as a Painter-Poet: Farrán i Mayoral's Reflections -- Conclusions -- References -- Chapter 9: Reading, Understanding, and Praising Poe's Illustrated Oeuvre: From Childhood to Old Age -- Children Leaf through It -- Adolescents Read It -- Grown Men Understand It -- Old Men Praise It -- Conclusion -- References Chapter 10: Poe's "Berenice" in Popular Culture: Contemporary (Audio)visual Representations in Spain -- Introduction -- The Illustrations of "Berenice" in Spain: A Female Point of View -- "Berenice" in the Comics Genre: The Case of Vampirella and Creepy -- "Berenice" on the Screen: An Analysis of Chicho Ibáñez Serrador's "El Trapero" -- Conclusions -- References -- Part IV: Poe's Long and Far-Reaching Legacy -- Chapter 11: Death, Doubt, and Poe's Global Ascendancy -- Science, Religion, and Fear of Death -- Three Troubling Texts -- Poe's Anticipation of our Culture of Fear -- References -- Chapter 12: Distance Makes the Heart Grow Fonder: Nostalgia and Poe's American Readership -- Nostalgia, the Word and Its History -- Nostalgia in the Time of Poe -- Nostalgia and Poe's Later Reputation and Reception -- Conclusion -- References -- Chapter 13: Poe's "The Gold-Bug," Reading, and Race -- Young Readers, Youth Education, and Magazines for Children -- "Average Racism" in "The Gold-Bug" -- The Canterbury Classics Edition of The Gold Bug -- Postscript -- Appendix 1 -- References -- Chapter 14: Growing up in Poe's Shadow: Intertextuality, Jungian Projections, and the Anxiety of Influence in Edgar Allan Poe's "The Murders in the Rue Morgue" and Stephen King's "The Monkey" -- Introduction -- The Symbolic Lineage of the Ape: In Poe's Footsteps -- Poe's Tale as a Source of Metatextuality and the Anxiety of Influence -- Mirror Scenes and Doubles: Completion and Antithesis -- Awakening into Sexuality and the Creative Drive: Repetition and Discontinuity -- Facing Poe's Shadow: Purgation and Solipsism -- Conclusion -- References -- Chapter 15: "The Masque of the Red Death" in Literature and Cinema: Poe's Short Story and Corman's Film Adaptation -- Introduction -- Corman's Filmography -- Corman's Film Adaptation of "The Masque of the Red Death" Contrast between the Written Original Tale and the Film Adaptation -- Space -- Time -- Actors -- Conclusions -- References -- Chapter 16: The Man of the Crowd and His Descendants: Poe, Rampo, and Sakate -- From Edogawa Rampo to Sakate Yoji -- The Attic as a Detective Meta-Fiction -- The Shifting Spectacle of Tokyo: Rampo, Abe, and Sakate -- Conclusion: The Paradox of Modernism -- References -- Index

ISBN: 9783031099861 electronic bk.) 9783031099854

Autores: Guerrero-Strachan, Santiago Rodríguez

Enlace a formato físico adicional: Print version Ibáñez, José R. Ibáñez. Retrospective Poe Cham : Springer International Publishing AG, c2023 9783031099854

Punto acceso adicional serie-Título: American Literature Readings in the 21st Century Ser

Baratz Innovación Documental

- Gran Vía, 59 28013 Madrid
- (+34) 91 456 03 60
- informa@baratz.es