Analítica

The roman wares of Trás do Castelo (Vale de Mir, Alijó) - rupture and continuity in a roman farm in the Douro Valley. e Projecto de Investigação sobre a Ocupação Humana em Pegarinhos (Alijó) was started in 2012, having finished its first phase in 2016. Early on, issues were raised about two sites: the Castros of Vale de Mir and Castorigo. roughout this inicial phase, a series of digs were made in the Castro of Vale de Mir, more precisely in the Trás do Castelo site. Even so, the data recovered during this research gave way to a ceramologic study that allowed the identification of a series of imported wares and, mostly, local wares, with precise statigraphical data and with broad utilitarian purposes. is brief study approaches a varied ceramic sample form a type of archaeological site that usually receives little attention in the Douro Valley, roman farms
