Analítica

The Novallas bronze plaque is a fragmentary text written in Latin alphabet and Celtiberian language whose fifth line contains the word audintum. The author proposes to analyse it as the genitive plural of the present participle of a verb. The proto-Celtiberian base would be *h2ew-dheh1-/*h2ew-dhh1- or, simply, *audheh1-/*audhh1-. His meaning would be 'to give, to grant, to donate'. The Celtiberian terms auzeti, auzanto, auz (auzati?) and auzimei may be etymologically related to this stem and possibly so is auzares
