Analítica

The goal of this paper is to analyze the strike performed by workers from oil workers' union (USO) in 1948 against Tropical Oil Company. From a theoretical view of Collective Action Theory (TAC) was made this work and enhance aspects like political opportunities for strike, solidarity and the result of confrontation. In the same way, the national and regional press is used to show how strike is developing. In this way, we want to show the strike was a specific demonstration of the fight for nationalizing the Colombian oil against the monopolist capital
