Analítica

As an Ariadne thread, this article intends to continue pulling and reviewing the "estancias" or projects that, since that a distant 2007, have been designed and, in a different degrees, implemented, because as was also mentioned in the 2007 article, the actions have continued to comply with criteria of timeliness and availability of resources: mainly human, but also space materials for the deployment of the intermediate archives network. A tour through the various projects and achievements is made to conclude with a hopeful assessment for the certainty that with what has already been done there has no possible way back
