

Bajar a servir en la ciudad de Jujuy.: Servicios ciudadanos y resistencia indígena en la temprana República (1840-1860) [

2019

text (article)

Analítica

In the formation of the nineteenth century liberal order, the highland territory (the puna) of the Province of Jujuy presents important information for an analysis of the interaction of indigenous groups with the construction of the Republican states. The composition of that order sparked conflicts, negotiations, and adaptations on many fronts, including reconfigurations of social relations in these rural areas, and among them, the new military obligations imposed on the citizenry. Considering this thematic field, we analyzed the establishment and the functioning of regulations regarding the military service for the population of Puna. We also return to study the "indigenous contribution" (1840), re-examining the tax with a consideration of aspects less-studied in the historiography: the personal exemption (1863). We aim to establish the historical circumstances that influenced the approval of both regulations, to compare both experiences, and to understand their consequences. This work draws from different repositories in the Historic Archive of Jujuy and the Archive of the Legislature of Jujuy province

In the formation of the nineteenth century liberal order, the highland territory (the puna) of the Province of Jujuy presents important information for an analysis of the interaction of indigenous groups with the construction of the Republican states. The composition of that order sparked conflicts, negotiations, and adaptations on many fronts, including reconfigurations of social relations in these rural areas, and among them, the new military obligations imposed on the citizenry. Considering this thematic field, we analyzed the establishment and the functioning of regulations regarding the military service for the population of Puna. We also return to study the "indigenous contribution" (1840), re-examining the tax with a consideration of aspects less-studied in the historiography: the personal exemption (1863). We aim to establish the historical circumstances that influenced the approval of both regulations, to compare both experiences, and to understand their consequences. This work draws from different repositories in the Historic Archive of Jujuy and the Archive of the Legislature of Jujuy province

In the formation of the nineteenth century liberal order, the highland territory (the puna) of the Province of Jujuy presents important information for an analysis of the interaction of indigenous groups with the construction of the Republican states. The composition of that order sparked conflicts, negotiations, and adaptations on many fronts, including reconfigurations of social relations in these rural areas, and among them, the new military obligations imposed on the citizenry. Considering this thematic field, we analyzed the establishment and the functioning of regulations regarding the military service for the population of Puna. We also return to study the "indigenous contribution" (1840), re-examining the tax with a consideration of aspects less-studied in the historiography: the personal exemption (1863). We aim to establish the historical circumstances that influenced the approval of both regulations, to compare both experiences, and to understand their consequences. This work draws from different repositories in the Historic Archive of Jujuy and the Archive of the Legislature of Jujuy province

<https://rebiunoda.pro.baratznet.cloud:28443/OpacDiscovery/public/catalog/detail/b2FpOmNlbGVicmF0aW9uOmVzLmJhcmF0ei5yZW4vMzU2MTgzMTg>

---

Título: Bajar a servir en la ciudad de Jujuy.: Servicios ciudadanos y resistencia indígena en la temprana República (1840-1860) [electronic resource].]

Editorial: 2019

Documento fuente: Estudios Sociales del Noa: nueva serie, ISSN 0329-8256, N°. 22, 2019, pags. 117-142

Nota general: application/pdf

Restricciones de acceso: Open access content. Open access content star

Condiciones de uso y reproducción: LICENCIA DE USO: Los documentos a texto completo incluidos en Dialnet son de acceso libre y propiedad de sus autores y/o editores. Por tanto, cualquier acto de reproducción, distribución, comunicación pública y/o transformación total o parcial requiere el consentimiento expreso y escrito de aquéllos. Cualquier enlace al texto completo de estos documentos deberá hacerse a través de la URL oficial de éstos en Dialnet. Más información: <https://dialnet.unirioja.es/info/derechosOAI> | INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY RIGHTS STATEMENT: Full text documents hosted by Dialnet are protected by copyright and/or related rights. This digital object is accessible without charge, but its use is subject to the licensing conditions set by its authors or editors. Unless expressly stated otherwise in the licensing conditions, you are free to linking, browsing, printing and making a copy for your own personal purposes. All other acts of reproduction and communication to the public are subject to the licensing conditions expressed by editors and authors and require consent from them. Any link to this document should be made using its official URL in Dialnet. More info: <https://dialnet.unirioja.es/info/derechosOAI>

Lengua: Spanish

Enlace a fuente de información: Estudios Sociales del Noa: nueva serie, ISSN 0329-8256, N°. 22, 2019, pags. 117-142

---

Baratz Innovación Documental

- Gran Vía, 59 28013 Madrid
- (+34) 91 456 03 60
- informa@baratz.es