Analítica

The focus of this research is on the Axarquía region, located in the interior of the Malaga province, and specifically on the village of Comares. The main objective is to know the demarcation of the lands of Comares in the 16th century. Therefore, we have studied the documentation related to the Malaga disengagements and the administrative district (ta'a) of Comares of the 15th century, in addition to the 16th century books on the boundaries and distributions of the villages of Comares, Cútar and El Borge. The study of the toponymy of Arabic and Romance (or pre-Romance) etymology is useful to understand the composition of the landscape and countryside with its main landmarks, both artificial and natural. Based on our analysis of these data, we are able to obtain the demarcation of Comares with respect to its old farmsteads of El Borge, Cútar and the Tierras del Pan, as well as to establish the length and width of the town, to achieve the landscape of this part of the Axarquía region in the 16th century. Finally, we have included a toponymic table with the etymological origin and semantic value of the different words.
