

Our land of Palestine /

Archibald, Malcolm, author

Fiction.

Historical fiction.

Spy fiction.

War fiction.

Historical fiction.

War fiction.

Spy fiction.

Monografía

It's the year 1915, and the British and Ottoman Empires are locked in a deadly struggle in the Middle East. Commander of a unit of irregular horse, Major Andrew Selkirk lands on the coast of Palestine to retrieve a spy named Abraham. With the enigmatic Rachel as his translator, Selkirk discovers that the Turks have captured Abraham and finds himself involved in a power struggle, as both the Germans and Ottomans hope to bring Afghanistan and Persia to war against Great Britain. Fighting a personal feud with a vengeful German, Selkirk leads his men across strife-torn Palestine, a land that everybody seems to claim as their own

<https://rebiunoda.pro.baratznet.cloud:38443/OpacDiscovery/public/catalog/detail/b2FpOmNlbGVicmF0aW9uOmVzLmJhcmF0ei5yZW4vMzc3MDMwMjY>

Título: Our land of Palestine Malcolm Archibald

Editorial: [Finland?] Creativia [2016]

Descripción física: 1 online resource (249 pages)

ISBN: 9781530802654 1530802652

Materia Entidad: Great Britain. Army- Cavalry- Fiction Great Britain. Army.

Materia: World War, 1914-1918- Palestine- Fiction World War, 1914-1918- Campaigns- Palestine- Fiction Guerre mondiale, 1914-1918- Palestine- Romans, nouvelles, etc Military campaigns.

Materia Geográfica: Middle East- Palestine. <https://id.oclc.org/worldcat/entity/E39PBJbGRpdjCJGRyrXqt8rTHC>

Baratz Innovación Documental

- Gran Vía, 59 28013 Madrid
- (+34) 91 456 03 60
- informa@baratz.es