

Sophie redesigned

/

Dahood, Karen

Outskirts Press,
2010

Mystery and detective stories

Suspense fiction.

Monografía

She knows she's smart, but she's bored. When Sophie meets "Sam," a pre-Internet police detective who depends on her professional skills at the Dorado Bay Public Library, she decides to retire and go freelance. He's reluctant to hire her as a consulting researcher until she beats him to the murder scene and knows the victim. They awkwardly proceed to solve the crime with opposing techniques, uncovering a decades-old killing corporation and a religious cult, all in the same dysfunctional family. This is the first in a series of Sophie and Sam collaborations to solve crimes committed under Sophie's sharp nose for trouble. Elder issues drive the plots while family ties are tested, including Sophie's relationship with her son Robin, who thinks "active retirement" should not mean sneaking around the country for clues. Then there's the problem of growing warmth between two senior citizens who are past their romantic prime. Or are they?

<https://rebiunoda.pro.baratznet.cloud:38443/OpacDiscovery/public/catalog/detail/b2FpOmNlbGVicmF0aW9uOmVzLmJhcmF0ei5yZW4vMzc4OTAzNjA>

Título: Sophie redesigned Karen Dahood

Editorial: Denver, Colo. Outskirts Press 2010

Descripción física: 1 online resource (314 pages)

Mención de serie: Sophie and Sam mystery; bk. 1

ISBN: 9781432753443 1432753444

Materia: Mystery and detective stories

Punto acceso adicional serie-Título: Sophie and Sam mystery; bk. 1

Baratz Innovación Documental

- Gran Vía, 59 28013 Madrid
- (+34) 91 456 03 60
- informa@baratz.es