

The final race /

Chiapco, Oliver

Mill City Press,
2012

Medical fiction. Thrillers (Fiction) Fiction. Suspense fiction. Medical novels. Thrillers (Fiction) Medical fiction.

Monografía

In a warming world, the stage is set for malevolent storms, deadly diseases, and human conflict. As the death toll rises and vital resources thin out, bigotry rears its ugly horns and racial tension ignites. When life-saving drugs run out and hospital morgues turn into mass graves, Dr. Jamal Jackson hatches a contentious plan: unleash a beast to kill another beast--extinguish the plague with a genetic anomaly that he, ironically, had long since vowed to purge from the face of the earth. Then it occurs to him. The very race that history had once condemned could very well be the most resilient of all--and the very gene that he had so reviled could be the very cure that could save all

<https://rebiunoda.pro.baratznet.cloud:38443/OpacDiscovery/public/catalog/detail/b2FpOmNlbGVicmF0aW9uOmVzLmJhcmF0ei5yZW4vMzgWMTI0OTE>

Título: The final race Oliver Chiapco

Editorial: Minneapolis Mill City Press 2012

Descripción física: 1 online resource (277 pages)

Nota general: "Inspired by true events"--Cover

ISBN: 9781938223280 pbk.) 1938223284 pbk.)

Materia: Epidemics- Fiction Plague- Fiction Physicians- Fiction Virus diseases- Fiction Peste- Romans, nouvelles, etc Médecins- Romans, nouvelles, etc Maladies à virus- Romans, nouvelles, etc Epidemics. Physicians. Plague. Virus diseases.

Baratz Innovación Documental

- Gran Vía, 59 28013 Madrid
- (+34) 91 456 03 60
- informa@baratz.es