

"Trabajar en la calle no es delito": Una aproximación a la venta ambulante en la ciudad de Santiago del Estero (Argentina) a partir de 2021 [

2024

text (article)

Analítica

The purpose of this article is to analyze the ways of organizing work to "earn a living" in public spaces of workers of the popular economy (E.P onwards) in the capital city of Santiago del Estero since 2021. That is, to characterize the activities of obtaining resources and ways of obtaining money, to describe the practices linked to social reproduction and to inquire about the meanings given to the work of selling in public spaces at present. To do this, we resort to the socialization of an ethnographic experience that describes the historically established practices of street vending or fixed stalls in the area of the city's Park and Waterfront. That is, we want to put in tension the dimensions involved in "making a living" for a group of workers organized in the popular economy. The street is undoubtedly a space of domination that systematically produces and reproduces a class structure when it comes to accessing, circulating and inhabiting the different work situations in the cities. In line with the thematic call of the dossier, we propose to recover the notion of "the street" as a multiple and intersectional place that becomes a central dimension to understand the ways of work organization, the obtaining of money, the meanings attributed to street vending, etc. In this way, we make use of the tools provided by ethnography in order to make the nature of economic life and social relations more complex, based on the testimonies and experiences of workers

The purpose of this article is to analyze the ways of organizing work to "earn a living" in public spaces of workers of the popular economy (E.P onwards) in the capital city of Santiago del Estero since 2021. That is, to characterize the activities of obtaining resources and ways of obtaining money, to describe the practices linked to social reproduction and to inquire about the meanings given to the work of selling in public spaces at present. To do this, we resort to the socialization of an ethnographic experience that describes the historically established practices of street vending or fixed stalls in the area of the city's Park and Waterfront. That is, we want to put in tension the dimensions involved in "making a living" for a group of workers organized in the popular economy. The street is undoubtedly a space of domination that systematically produces and reproduces a class structure when it comes to accessing, circulating and inhabiting the different work situations in the cities. In line with the thematic call of the dossier, we propose to recover the notion of "the street" as a multiple and intersectional place that becomes a central dimension to understand the ways of work organization, the obtaining of money, the meanings attributed to street vending, etc. In this way, we make use of the tools provided by ethnography in order to make the nature of economic life and social relations more complex, based on the testimonies and experiences of workers

The purpose of this article is to analyze the ways of organizing work to "earn a living" in public spaces of workers of the popular economy (E.P onwards) in the capital city of Santiago del Estero since 2021. That is, to characterize the activities of obtaining resources and ways of obtaining money, to describe the practices linked to social reproduction and to inquire about the meanings given to the work of selling in public spaces at present. To do this, we resort to the socialization of an ethnographic experience that describes the historically established practices of street vending or fixed stalls in the area of the city's Park and Waterfront. That is, we want to put in tension the dimensions involved in "making a living" for a group of workers organized in the popular economy. The street is undoubtedly a space of domination that systematically produces and reproduces a class structure when it comes to accessing, circulating and inhabiting the different work situations in the cities. In line with the thematic call of the dossier, we propose to recover the notion of "the street" as a multiple and intersectional place that becomes a central dimension to understand the ways of work organization, the obtaining of money, the meanings attributed to street vending, etc. In this way, we make use of the tools provided by ethnography in order to make the nature of economic life and social relations more complex, based on the testimonies and experiences of workers

<https://rebiunoda.pro.baratznet.cloud:38443/OpacDiscovery/public/catalog/detail/b2FpOmNlbGVicmF0aW9uOmVzLmJhcmF0ei5yZW4vMzgwNDIwMjc>

Título: "Trabajar en la calle no es delito": Una aproximación a la venta ambulante en la ciudad de Santiago del Estero (Argentina) a partir de 2021 [electronic resource].]

Editorial: 2024

Tipo Audiovisual: work street vending public spaces trabajo venta ambulante espacios públicos trabalho venda ambulante espaços públicos

Documento fuente: Revista Latinoamericana de Antropología del Trabajo, ISSN 2591-2755, Vol. 8, Nº. 17, 2024 (Ejemplar dedicado a: Trabajar en la calle)

Nota general: application/pdf

Restricciones de acceso: Open access content. Open access content star

Condiciones de uso y reproducción: LICENCIA DE USO: Los documentos a texto completo incluidos en Dialnet son de acceso libre y propiedad de sus autores y/o editores. Por tanto, cualquier acto de reproducción, distribución, comunicación pública y/o transformación total o parcial requiere el consentimiento expreso y escrito de aquéllos. Cualquier enlace al texto completo de estos documentos deberá hacerse a través de la URL oficial de éstos en Dialnet. Más información: <https://dialnet.unirioja.es/info/derechosOAI> | INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY RIGHTS STATEMENT: Full text documents hosted by Dialnet are protected by copyright and/or related rights. This digital object is accessible without charge, but its use is subject to the licensing conditions set by its authors or editors. Unless expressly stated otherwise in the licensing conditions, you are free to linking, browsing, printing and making a copy for your own personal purposes. All other acts of reproduction and communication to the public are subject to the licensing conditions expressed by editors and authors and require consent from them. Any link to this document should be made using its official URL in Dialnet. More info: <https://dialnet.unirioja.es/info/derechosOAI>

Lengua: Spanish

Enlace a fuente de información: Revista Latinoamericana de Antropología del Trabajo, ISSN 2591-2755, Vol. 8, Nº. 17, 2024 (Ejemplar dedicado a: Trabajar en la calle)

Baratz Innovación Documental

- Gran Vía, 59 28013 Madrid
- (+34) 91 456 03 60
- informa@baratz.es

